| Sense and Sensibility  | Jane Austen  | https://www.gutenberg.org/files/161/old/sense11p.pdf   | Sense and Sensibility is the first novel by the English author Jane Austen, published in 1811. It was published anonymously; By A Lady appears on the title page where the author's name might have been. It tells the story of the Dashwood sisters, Elinor (age 19) and Marianne (age 16½) as they come of age. They have an older half-brother, John, and a younger sister, Margaret (age 13).   | SEPTIEMBRE NOVIEMBRE    |
